WHY HEMP? FABRICS

Of all the fabrics available on the market, hemp is the most eco-friendly choice. As versatile as cotton and as durable as canvas. All produced in the most sustainable & ethical way possible.

A HIGHLY VERSATILE MATERIAL

Hemp fabrics have arrived that are so soft, strong & breathable but also insulate, drape beautifully and crease less, that even hardened sceptics have to admit to this fibres amazing qualities! Hemp fabric is workable and versatile, excellent to dye, tactile and responsive.

A WHOLE WORLD OF BLENDS

Hemp can be mixed with silks, organic cottons & wools and produces a beautiful textile comparable to anything from linen to muslin, to fleece and denim, with no compromise to quality or appearance. Hemp fabric has a long life. It ages well, and gets softer the more it is worn!

HEMP FACTS

Did you know...

Hemp is one of the most versatile and resourceful plants known to mankind, and has been grown for thousands of years. Hemp grows ecologically almost anywhere on the planet. Unlike cotton, hemp grows well and flourishes without the use of pesticides or harmful chemicals making it more environmentally sustainable than many other fibre & oilseed crops.

Hemp produces higher quality, and around 3-4 times more paper than trees. The seeds are one of the single greatest sources of nutrition and have the highest protein content in the plant world.

Hemp is a truly sustainable alternative to many everyday items, and as we move towards a more environmentally conscious future the re-emergence of this ecologically sustainable plant is more relevant than ever.

Hemp is used for food, paper, fabrics, clothing, bags, ropes, oil, skincare, haircare, medicines and much more! It has over 25,000 uses that we know of, and the list is growing all the time!

"I believe that hemp is going to be the fibre of choice in both the home furnishing and fashion industries"

- Calvin Klein-

"Hemp produces a strong, clean yarn, with a structure that makes the cloth cool in summer, and warm and comfortable in winter."

- Giorgio Armani-

"There are two plants that deserve the noble prize, one is aloe vera, and the other is the hemp plant, for its oil - it's amazing"

- Anita Roddick-

ENVIRONMENTAL BENEFITS OF THE HEMP PLANT

Cleans the air
It's the best plant for absorbing CO₂ from the atmosphere!

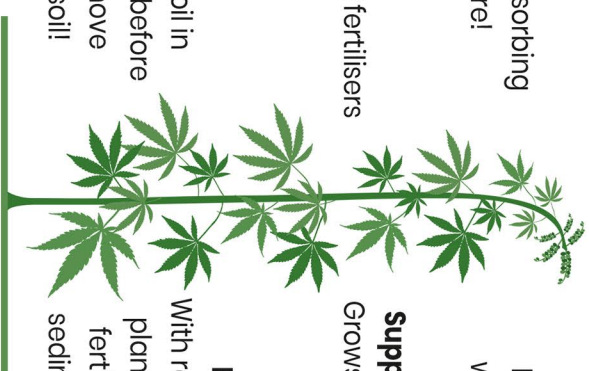

Require no chemicals
No pesticides, chemical fertilisers or herbicides needed.

Cleans the soil
Deep roots leaves the soil in a better condition than before planting. It can also remove toxins & radiation from soil!

Requires little water
It requires around 80% less water than cotton to grow!

Supports sustainable farming
Grows in only 4 months, making it great for crop rotation!

Helps prevent soil erosion
With roots up to 9 feet deep the plants bind the soil, preserving fertile land & preventing extra sediment clogging waterways.
